

SECOND ANNOUNCEMENT and CALL FOR ABSTRACTS

From July 10 to 13, 2011, Québec City will host the 19th Biennial meeting of the International Society for Sexually Transmitted Diseases Research (ISSTD) on the theme of 'From research to intervention: successes and challenges'.

ABOUT THE CONFERENCE

Opinion leaders, researchers and clinicians from around the world provide leadership in STI/HIV prevention, diagnosis and treatment. The ISSTD Québec 2011 will bring them together to share their latest research results, innovation, good practice and expertise. As the theme of the conference is "From research to intervention: successes and challenges", many sessions at the conference will focus on the use of research results to inform the implementation of better and more efficient clinical and public health practices. The meeting will also focus on rigorous scientific evaluation of clinical and preventive interventions and will emphasize what work best in these fields.

CALL FOR ABSTRACTS

Five main tracks will guide the preparation of the scientific program:

1. Epidemiology track
2. Social and behavioural aspects of prevention track
3. Clinical sciences track
4. Basic sciences track
5. Health services and policy track
